

Originally formed in 1997, the Del Bombers broke hearts and devastated local and national stages. Taking the stage with acts: Social Distortion, Cadillac Tramps, The Blasters, and recently, Sarah Shook and the Disarmers has honed their live performances to a razors edge. The release of the two albums "Life is Pain" and "Time Wont Wait" proved to be prophetic, finally taking a 10-year "life break". But their songs and mystery kept building momentum through television appearances and college radio. Finally reuniting in 2019 with a stripped down, honest sound and powerful stage presence that is rapidly making them the "don't miss" band wherever they perform.

The Del Bombers blend together hard rock, old-school country, blues and add in some Latin flavor into a heartfelt cocktail of songs. Combined with riveting live shows, the Del Bombers are rapidly reclaiming their rightful places on the big stages.

Fronted by blazing guitarist and lead vocalist, Steve Grillos, with powerful drums and backing harmonies by Bob James, sensual rhythms of Rosa James on castanets and the dynamic addition of Hans Hunt on bass, this mix of experience, personalities and talent is truly explosive.

Night after night, the Del Bombers fight hard, and fight to win, playing each show as if it's their very last. As if their very lives and loves depended on each song being heard and felt, each note being felt and make no mistake, they back it up.
